

DID YOU KNOW?

It's easy to overlook the realities many children face—but every child deserves a safe, happy, and nurturing childhood.

On World Day Against Child Labour, we are reminded of the importance of protecting children from exploitation and ensuring their right to education, safety, and growth.

- Why is it important that every child goes to school?
- What happens when children are forced to work?
- How can each one of us contribute to creating a world where children are free to learn and thrive?

Let's pause, reflect, and take action—because every child's future depends on the choices we make today.

Explore & Discover More with Britannica Activities!

LEARN MORE

@Britannica Library